Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Mathematical Construction, Informal Number Work, for Busy Hands: Grades One and Two All the construction work should be carefully selected by the teacher with a two-fold purpose. 1st. The appropriateness of the thing itself to the child s need; a co-relation to other studies, or a gift, plaything or actual necessity. 2nd. The appropriateness of the number relations to the child s mathematical discoveries; a proper sequence from the simplest of mathematical relations to the more complex, and a proper order of inferences. The possible number relations found in the process of the construction of an article should be brought out carefully by the teacher. While the child is making something he is in a receptive mood for this number work. Each step gives new surfaces or lines to compare. When the teacher artfully questions, giving concrete problems regarding these ever changing lines and surfaces, she gets answers from alert minds; minds that are comparing and coming to conclusions then and there; minds that are not trying to remember what the teacher said yesterday or...
