Reviews

The most effective publication i at any time go through. This is certainly for all those who statte that there had not been a worthy of looking at. Its been printed in an extremely straightforward way which is merely soon after i finished reading this publication where basically changed me, change the way in my opinion.

T.; N this section I purpose to state the conyK version of two women, whose history affords a terrible insight into the evils and the inveteracy of the drinking habits so widely prevalent among those ranks of society to which this memoir chiefly relates; and which will be found, I trust, to supply a ground of hope even for the most abandoned. We are all ready to denounce drunkenness as the deadliest curse under which our poor and ignorant neighbours groan, and the greatest obstacle to their elevation. But are we as considerate as we ought to be for those peculiar provocatives and incentives to this evil to which they are subject? Do we make due allowances for inherited constitutional tendencies; for early and habitual training; for the force of example; for the exhaustion and stupor produced by physical toil; for the nervous depression caused by bad air, innutritious or insufficient food, and exposure to cold; and for the lack of such means of recrea ENSLAVING POWEK OF DHINK. Bo tion and pleasurable excitement as people of a better social grade find in books, in intellectual companionships, and in the scenes of nature? Is there as much intelligent sympathy among us with the helplessness of the intemperate as there ought to be? And, are we as patient, and judicious, and persistent in the use of means for their reformation as a true faith in the power of the means we employ...
